Fristads Green Fusion.

A sustainable contribution

To meet the demand for environmentally friendly workwear, Fristads has developed a collection of garments made of comfortable and sustainable fabrics with a low environmental impact.

Fristads Green

Fristads Green is a concept characterized by environmental awareness and innovation to minimize the footprint on the environment. All Fristads Green garments come with an EPD – Environmental Product Declaration.

EPD the Movie.

“A long-term, sustainable and transparent measuring tool for environmental impact”

- Fristads has made the world's first EPDs for clothing
- We are the first clothing producer in the world to introduce a new standard for measuring the total environmental impact of a garment – from choice of material to delivery of the finished garment
- A standard that can be used throughout the textile industry
- The EPD measures the impact in four main areas: material, construction, production and delivery
- EPDs are already used in other product areas, but Fristads is the first to implement it for clothing

EPD –
Environmental Product Declaration.

Your environmental choices make a difference.

We have compared the environmental impact of a Fristads Green trouser with a conventionally produced trouser.

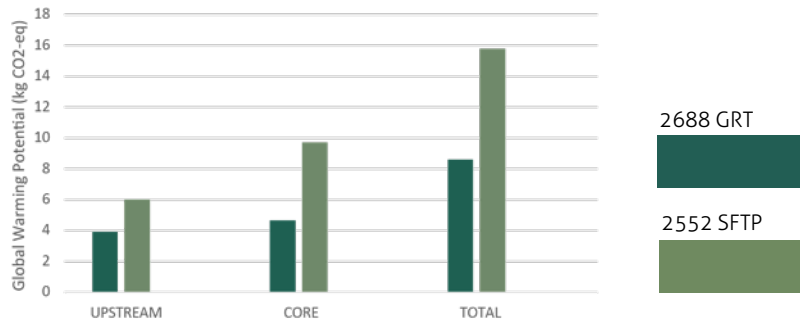

Water scarcity footprint

The potential environmental impacts related to water, including both water availability and water quality at the production site.

Global warming potential

The total amount of greenhouse gases that are generated by our actions and the potential impact on the global warming.
