

At Fristads AB and our leading brands Fristads, Kansas and Leijona, we work for a long-term sustainable society, both for people and the environment. We do this by acting on the basis of applicable laws and regulations as well as constantly looking for alternatives that reduce the negative impact our business has on people and the environment, without sacrificing quality or price.

Our environmental work is based on our sustainability strategy and continuous training for staff. Our environmental goals are being reviewed and revised as we move forward. This approach is a natural part of the life cycle perspective and our quest to become more sustainable in everything we do; from product design, production of materials and production efficiency to decisions on means of transport, heating of our premises and our commitment to social issues.
